

Co-funded by the Erasmus+ Programme
of the European Union

Thursday November 21st 2019 Teachers' activity:" Interpersonal skills in teaching"

Number of participants: 20

Duration: 60 mins

Teachers from different schools attended a lecture on the importance of interpersonal skills in education..

During the lecture teachers were able to identify what we call interpersonal skills and why they are important in today's workplace; sometimes valued equally to a degree.

The quality of a teacher's lecture or teaching methods can be significantly enhanced by the quality of their interpersonal skills. Teachers need to possess a number of skills in the teaching profession and include communication, empathy, positive motivation, effective and positive body language and humor.

By means of presentation, interaction and experiential practice, teachers had an opportunity to discover how to empower their students, teach them active listening, communication, collaboration, dependability, conflict resolution.